Six Taxpayers File Answer To Miami Trace Bond Suit

The business of selling $1,652,500 worth of bonds voted last November for Miami Trace district school construction and improvements has struck another legal snag.

Answer to the Miami Trace district's mandamus action in the Supreme Court to force Mrs. Senath Thompson, the clerk of the Miami Trace board, to sell the bonds, was filed in the Supreme Court Monday by Charles A. Fabb, Frank S. Jackson, Ralph R. Penn, Mrs. C. Elton Rhoad, Maynard A. Wilson and Will A. Rodgers.

These six, who identified themselves as taxpayers, were made parties to the suit last week by order of the Supreme Court and by Mrs. Thompson.

The answer of the six taxpayers lists 12 defenses to the petition of the Miami Trace School Board for an order requiring Mrs. Thompson certify the bond issue to County Auditor Harry Allen and to offer the bonds for sale.

THE FIRST defense states that the proposed bond issue will raise the bonded indebtedness of the Miami Trace District above that allowed by law.

The second defense alleges that the Miami Trace board failed to comply with many sections of the Uniform Bond Act of Ohio, and that County Auditor Harry A. Allen failed to state the average annual levy of taxes necessary to retire the bonds in terms of dollars and cents as well as mills. The second defense also alleges that the Fayette County Board of Elections failed to publish proper notice of the election on the bond issue prior to the vote taken on the issue Nov. 6, 1956.

The third defense alleges that the extraordinary remedy of mandamus may not be used in this case, because there are many successive steps to be taken by the Miami Trace board in the issuance of the bonds.

The fourth defense alleges that the entire bond proceedings, including the election of Nov. 6, are invalid, for the reason that a petition had been filed on Nov. 4, 1955, requesting the appointment of a county Citizens Committee and that thereafter the Miami Trace Board of Education, the Fayette County Board of Education and County Superintendent W. J. Hilty, "pursued a course of action, including the bond proceedings involved herein, for the purpose of avoiding their respective duties and superseding the mandatory requirements of" the Citizens Committee law.

The fifth defense is to the effect that the Miami Trace board, in conjunction with the Fayette County board, used school money illegally.

Commissioners Start Work On County Budget

Several Readjustments Necessary, They Say; Other Business Monday

Starting Monday afternoon the Fayette County Board of Commissioners are busy on checking over budgets presented by various departments of county government to cover their estimated expenses for the year 1958 beginning next January 1.

The commissioners start with their inspection of budgets submitted for county offices, the Fayette County Children's Home, and the Soldiers' Relief Commission. Later they will check on other county departments, in some of which the county only furnishes a part of the money appropriated, the remainder being by grants from the state, such as the relief department, highway department etc.

On the county offices, soldiers' relief and Children's Home, budgets requests presented are reported to show a total of approximately $40,000 more than the estimated income of $366,423.81 to the county for these departments.

This means that the commissioners will endeavor to make adjustments and cuts within these departments to meet the estimated income. Officials of some offices and departments usually are called in by the commissioners in arriving at adjustments.

When the commissioners finish with all departments and offices of the county, the budget is then turned over to the Fayette County Budget Commission which sets the necessary rates of taxation.

H. H. DENTON, Fayette County member of the Board of Trustees Mt. Logan TB Sanatorium, reported to the commissioners at their Monday morning session that the financial statement of that institution for the first half of 1957, ending June 30, showed a total of $131,918.22 covering all expenses, as against $142,090.79 for the same period last year.

Denton leaves Wednesday to attend the quarterly joint meeting of the Mt. Logan trustees with representatives of boards of commissioners of the six counties which support the institution. He will be accompanied to the meeting by Commissioners Robert Coker and Cliff Hughes.

The counties forming the district supporting Mt. Logan Sanatorium with state aid are Fayette, Ross, Pike, Highland, Jackson and Scioto.

Denton stated that part of the savings made at Mt. Logan during the past half year, were due to the elimination of farming and livestock.

Boy Helps Save Himself in Well

AKRON—A four-year-old boy tumbled into an abandoned well Sunday, caught hold of a short length of pipe jutting from the well's wall, and hung on for 20 minutes until rescued.

The youngster, Larry Riter of Fredericktown, Knox County, was playing on the cover of the well when one of the planks gave way. He tumbled into the 28-foot well, which had 13 feet of water at the bottom, and caught hold of the pipe half-way down.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Riter, heard his screams and called firemen who rescued the boy.

VALLEY FORGE—Texas boys swapped horned toads for hard coal lumps from Pennsylvania.

Scouts from the far northern reaches of the country piled into the camp site of the Panama Canal Zone to look with fascination upon an eight-foot snake. A boy from Denmark, with a touch of awe, wondered whether a Scout from Peru could produce a shrunken head.

Thus life in this Boy Scout Jamboree City covering 1,500 acres and lodging nearly 55,000 lads and leaders is getting back to normal today after a memorable week-end.

Sunday, after religious services by various denominations, the Scouts entertained a multitude of relatives and friends. Thousands came from neighboring states.

Scout officials and state police estimated that more than 30,000 toured the camp Sunday.

Clinton Racial Trial Defense Plans Surprise

Mysterious Witness To Have 'Sobering' Effect, Lawyer Says

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Robert L. Dobbs, chief counsel for the "Clinton 15" in the hotly fought civil rights trial here, said today he has uncovered new information that will have "a very sobering effect on this case."

He ran down "a good lead" during the weekend recess in the trial, he said, adding that "I've located a person with information that will have a very sobering effect on this case."

The defense will begin calling witnesses after the government's case finishes this week, U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. estimates that he will take at least two more days.

Dobbs declined further details about the new witness except to say, "It's someone within the territory of this court."

The case, growing out of riots that broke out when Negro students entered Clinton High School last autumn, is being tried in the U. S. District Court.

THE 15 Tennesseans and lanky John Kasper, New Jersey segregationist organizer, are charged with criminal contempt. The government accuses them of "acting in concert" to flout a federal court order against any interference with desegregating the high school. Clinton is a highland town of 4,500 near Knoxville.

Kasper has told reporters he is prepared to sacrifice himself to help the 15 codefendants go free. "I wouldn't mind going to jail for a year or two in order to get them off," he said.

To that, Dobbs retorted, "his very presence in court is prejudicial to us. That's why we wanted a separate trial for the 15."

Defense attorneys contend that segregationists in Tennessee and all over the South have been hurt by Kasper's actions.

A Sunday afternoon rally, or "preachin'" as Kasper described it, failed to throw any light on the organizer's popularity, or lack of it, in these parts.

About 15 automobiles showed up at a meadow on the farm of Joe Diehl, and Kasper called off the meeting. Rain had started to fall. He said threatening weather had "kept folks away."

Ten people were injured, three of them seriously, and two autos demolished in a four-car pileup about noon Saturday on the CCC Highway 11 miles east of Washington C. H.

Sheriff Orland Hays said it was "miraculous" no lives were lost in the mishap. It was the worst non-fatal accident here in "several years," he declared.

Among the injured were three sisters from Batavia, all in "fair condition" at Memorial Hospital Monday. They are:

(1) Ellen Jean Clark, 19, suffering from a brain concussion, lacerations of the scalp and lip and a broken nose;

N-S Freeway Land Buying Starting Soon

COLUMBUS—Negotiations with property owners for purchase of land needed for construction of the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway will begin later in the week, the Ohio Department of Highways reported today.

The department said it had completed agreements with firms to negotiate with property owners for land purchases.

Ralph J. Lenman freeway "task force" chief, said an agreement had been reached with the Putnam Co. of Marietta, a partnership of R. W. Putnam Jr. and R. V. Benjamin, to do the negotiating work in Franklin, Delaware, Morrow and Richland counties.

The Guley, Deane & Raimier Associates of Wadsworth, Ohio, has a contract to conduct negotiations for land purchases in Ashland, Wayne and Medina counties.

Eight firms were consulted before selections were made, Lenman said. He added the two firms under contract were chosen on the basis of their qualifications and experience under the provisions of an Ohio statute which does not require competitive bidding on work involving professional services.

Fees to be paid the firms are $150 for each parcel of land on which negotiators successfully complete a purchase agreement.

If negotiators are unable to conclude the purchase and a court action is necessary, they will be paid $100 for the work on acquisition of a parcel.

Negotiation for land purchase are to be conducted first in the Wayne County area.

Dixie Senator Expecting Only Vote Measure

Ballot Due Tuesday On Whether To Put Matter on Calendar

WASHINGTON—Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said today he sees "a good chance" to reduce the administration's civil rights bill "to what its supporters have been trying to advertise it to be—namely, a voting rights bill."

While Ervin and other Southern senators expressed confidence they were grinning ground, they are likely to run into an increasing counterattack from supporters of the House-passed bill once the preliminary skirmishing is ended.

So far the Senate debate, now in its seventh day, has been technically on a motion of Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California to take the bill off the calendar and bring it up for action.

This is to be voted on late Tuesday, and even the bill's foes concede the motion will carry.

Once this happens and the Senate turns to actual consideration of the bill and proposed amendments, proponents plan to jump into the debate. To date, in the interest of time, they have been largely content to leave the speech-making to Southern foes of the bill.

SEN. HOLLAND (D-Fla.) pictures Southern Senators as ready to battle Tuesday for an acceptable civil rights bill.

"If you have ever seen a bunch of men who are set for a fight, it is our group," Holland said.

Holland said that northern and western senators probably would win an initial showdown on the House-passed bill, but he expressed confidence that the South will be able to get compromise amendments through.

The measure, passed by the House last month, would establish a six-member commission to study civil rights problems, and create a special civil rights division within the attorney general's office.

Another part, designated Section 3, would permit the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of voting rights and other civil rights instead of having to rely on criminal prosecutions.

Persons accused of defying the injunctions could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Still another section makes similar provisions specifically limited to voting rights.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces, offered an amendment Saturday to rip out the whole of Section 3. He and other opponents contend that section is aimed at forcing racial integration in Southern schools and other public places with the use of federal troops if necessary.

4 Gunslingers Prove Ability In Santa Fe

SANTA FE, N. M.—There was a deadly silence as the four gunslingers, hands poised above their pistols, stood face to face in a rodeo arena Sunday night.

Suddenly, their hands flashed down and the guns seemed to leap from the holsters.

The silence was broken by the roar of gunfire.

Bill Reust of Santa Fe slipped his smoking gun back into the holster.

He had proven he was the king of the gunslingers.

Even though outdrawn and outshot, the other three managed to walk away from the gunfight without a scratch.

The gunslingers were using cap pistols and shot against the stop watch and not each other.

Reust, the winner, is 10 years old.

The second-place finisher, Lars Henderson of Los Angeles, is 9.

It all started when Lars and his 11-year-old brother Eric appeared on a television show demonstrating some new cap pistols.

The boys were touted as the fastest on the draw. The Santa Fe youngsters, from the stomping ratings of Billy the Kid, cried, "Draw and prove it, podner."

Janice Nicholson, 12, the second member of the Santa Fe gang, finished third and Eric was last.

Civil Rights Issue Is Seen As Knowland Nomination Tool

WASHINGTON—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) apparently has seized on the civil rights controversy in the Senate as offering an issue that might make him the Republican presidential nominee in 1960.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said Sunday night he will announce next fall whether he intends to seek the Republican nomination for governor of California. He had announced previously he would not run for reelection to the Senate next year.

Knowland said he has arranged tentatively to make 45 speeches in all sections of California after Congress quits. He said his schedule for those speeches would depend upon the adjournment date, which is uncertain because of the battle over the administration's civil rights bill.

Although Knowland declined to say whether he had made any decision, friends think he already has made up his mind to take on Republican Gov. Goodwin J.

Knights for the GOP nomination for governor in next year's California primary.

Knowland said he would have some announcement after he has traveled over California for about 30 days next fall. If he runs for the governorship, the supposition is that he will be attempting to place himself in a position to bid for the presidential nomination two years later.

Perhaps with this in mind Knowland has taken the leadership in efforts to get the House-passed civil rights bill before the Senate. His motion to bring the measure up officially is scheduled for a vote Tuesday, with every indication it will be carried.

By stepping into the civil rights fight, Knowland is identifying himself with an issue that comes home to the voters in politically vital sections of the country.

Knowland was in the position before trying to run for the non-nation without any widely appealing issue behind him.

News of World in Brief—

Nuclear 'Diablo' Fired in Nevada

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) — "Diablo," the nuclear device that behaved like a dud two weeks ago, burst with a stunning purple hue over the Nevada desert today.

The explosion, seventh of the current summer test series, was set off from atop a 500-foot steel tower.

The cloud from the blast rose swiftly to an altitude of about 30,000 feet. The portion above 15,000 feet then began heading toward southeastern Utah. The Atomic Energy Commission said the air mass probably would swing in directions later and head for Wyoming.

The portion of the cloud below 15,000 feet dispersed rapidly.

The blast was about half nominal in size, or roughly one-half as powerful as the atomic bombs dropped on Japan during World War II.

"Diablo" originally was scheduled to be detonated June 27, then was postponed a day. On June 28, the bomb failed to fire because of a power failure.

Eight hundred military observers, 102 of them Canadians, watched the explosion from trenches about 4,400 yards from ground zero.

The Atomic Energy Commission had said the blast was not expected to produce any appreciable fallout outside the firing range.

The explosion was seen as far away as San Francisco, where observers reported it produced an orange-yellow glow in the sky.

Miracle: None Killed

10 Taken to Hospital After 4-Car Pile-up

Ten people were injured, three of them seriously, and two autos demolished in a four-car pileup about noon Saturday on the CCC Highway 11 miles east of Washington C. H.

Sheriff Orland Hays said it was "miraculous" no lives were lost in the mishap. It was the worst non-fatal accident here in "several years," he declared.

Among the injured were three sisters from Batavia, all in "fair condition" at Memorial Hospital Monday. They are:

(1) Ellen Jean Clark, 10, suffering from a brain concussion, lacerations of the scalp and lip and a broken nose;

(2) Carol Louise Clark, 8, who sustained a hand injury; and

(3) Paula Vickie Clark, 13, suffering lacerations of the face and hands.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S.

N-S Freeway Land Buying Starting Soon

COLUMBUS (AP) — Negotiations with property owners for purchase of land needed for construction of the Cincinnati - Conneaut Freeway will begin later in the week, the Ohio Department of Highways reported today.

The department said it had completed agreements with firms to negotiate with property owners for land purchases.

Ralph J. Lenman freeway "task force" chief, said an agreement had been reached with the Putnam Co. of Marietta, a partnership of B. M. Putnam Jr. and R. V. Benjamin, to do the negotiating work in Franklin, Delaware, Morrow and Richland counties.

The Guile, Deane & Rainer Associates of Wadsworth, Ohio, has a contract to conduct negotiations for land purchases in Ashland, Wayne and Medina counties.

Eight firms were consulted before selections were made, Lenman said. He added the two firms under contract were chosen on the basis of their qualifications and experience under the provisions of an Ohio statute which does not require competitive bidding on work involving professional services.

Fees to be paid the firms are $150 for each parcel of land on which negotiators successfully complete a purchase agreement.

If negotiators are unable to conclude the purchase and a court action is necessary, they will be paid $100 for the work on acquisition of a parcel.

Negotiations for land purchase are to be conducted first in the Wayne County area.

James Clark, were released from the hospital Sunday. They had been held over night for treatment of chest, face and hand injuries. Another sister, Bonnie, 17, who sustained lacerations of the neck and face, was released at the same time.

TREATED in the hospital emergency room Saturday for bruises and lacerations were Mr. and Mrs. Judge D. Kile of Knoxville, Tenn., and their daughters, Sylvia, 11, and Judy, 13. Mrs. Kile also sustained blurring of vision.

Sheriff Hayes said Clark, 41, was held under $50 bond for the mishap, which allegedly occurred when his car crashed into the rear of Kile's stopped auto at the entrance to CCC construction work.

Pushed forward, Kile's car inflicted minor damage on an auto operated by Roger George Kyser of Oklahoma City, Okla. Kyser's car hit the rear of a car operated by S. E. Dyer, of Columbus.

Paul Lands of Mt. Sterling, flagman on the one-lane construction job, said he "waved frantically" for Clark to stop, but that Clark apparently "did not notice a thing."

Clark was charged with failure to stop within an assured clear distance. He was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court here Tuesday.

Three ambulances—Gers' and Kirkpatrick's from Washington C. H. and Snyder's from Mt. Sterling—were necessary to take away the injured.

House Slated To Ponder $3 Billion Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, moving toward consideration of a $3,242,333,000 foreign aid authorization today, was told Russia's "lesser emphasis on violence" is due only to free world strength.

Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said in a speech for opening debate on the bill: "The current shifts in the Kremlin mean new faces, but we have no basis whatever for any hope that the old Communist threat has been removed."

Gordon made a strong plea for approval of the measure without major change and floor managers of both parties predicted it would be passed that way. But the bill faced some bitter opposition and several determined efforts at amendment.

Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.), a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said he considers the bill "dangerous" and "unnecessary."

The measure is "dangerous," he said, because it "is the almost

Dixie Senator Expecting Only Vote Measure

Ballot Due Tuesday On Whether To Put Matter on Calendar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ervin (D-NC) said today he sees "a good chance" to reduce the administration's civil rights bill "to what its supporters have been trying to advertise it to be—namely, a voting rights bill."

While Ervin and other Southern senators expressed confidence they were grinning ground, they are likely to run into an increasing counterattack from supporters of the House-passed bill once the preliminary skirmishing is ended.

So far the Senate debate, now in its seventh day, has been technically on a motion of Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California to take the bill off the calendar and bring it up for action.

This is to be voted on late Tuesday, and even the bill's foes concede the motion will carry.

Once this happens and the Senate turns to actual consideration of the bill and proposed amendments, proponents plan to jump into the debate. To date, in the interest of time, they have been largely content to leave the speech-making to Southern foes of the bill.

SEN. HOLLAND (D-Fla.) pictures Southern Senators as ready to battle Tuesday for an acceptable civil rights bill.

"If you have ever seen a bunch of men who are set for a fight, it is our group," Holland said.

Holland said that northern and western senators probably would win an initial showdown on the House-passed bill, but he expressed confidence that the South will be able to get compromise amendments through.

The measure, passed by the House last month, would establish a six-member commission to study civil rights problems, and create a special civil rights division within the attorney general's office.

Another part, designated Section 3, would permit the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions against violations, or threatened violations, of voting rights and other civil rights instead of having to rely on criminal prosecutions.

Persons accused of defying the injunctions could be convicted and jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

Still another section makes similar provisions specifically limited to voting rights.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Dixie forces, offered an amendment Saturday to rip out the whole of Section 3. He and other opponents contend that section is aimed at forcing racial integration in Southern schools and other public places with the use of federal troops if necessary.

CD Unit Here Aids in Alert

Makes All-night Ride
To 'Bombed' Cincy

Civil Defense men from Washington C. H. "helped save Cincinnati," Friday night in the aftermath of Friday's nationwide mock civil defense alert.

The Washington C. H. team was "alerted" at 6 p. m. Friday and dispatched on "rescue duty" at 6:30 p. m. Arriving at Owensville at 8:15 p. m., the men were ordered at 9:15 p. m. to go into "bombed-out" Cincinnati.

They drove through downtown Cincinnati and went back to the Hamilton County Highway Department, where they were "released."

Some 68 units took part in the exercises. Coffee and donuts were served by the Salvation Army at the Hamilton County headquarters. The men did not stop in downtown Cincinnati. They arrived back here in time to go to bed at 5 a. m.

Mrs. Walls' Motion Is Heard by Judge

Judge Darrell Hottle of Highland County Monday morning started hearing a motion filed by Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls last week asking that John R. Trace, former principal of Washington C. H. High School, be placed under arrest and brought back to Washington C. H.

Trace had not completed making a deposition of his testimony for possible use in the trial of Mrs. Walls, under indictment for embezzling $9,874 from the high school activities fund during part of the time Trace was principal, when he disappeared.

He had resigned as principal of the high school to become director of education of the island of Guam in the Pacific and the presumption is that he has gone there. He had delayed his start for Guam from June 15 to July 1. He had not been seen since June 30, the day after he collapsed in a restaurant and was taken to Memorial Hospital.

He had completed two days of deposition when Mrs. Walls filed suit against him for $100,000 for defamation of character. He collapsed when told of the suit, and disappeared the following day after his release from the hospital.

In another court action, Mrs. Walls asked seizure of Trace's property, 713 Dayton Ave., in connection with her damage suit.

Civil Rights Foes

nounced he would offer a substitute for the House-passed bill that would strike out Section 3 and provide for jury trials when issues of fact were involved in contempt cases growing out of the enforcement of voting rights.

Mundt said his substitute was designed as "a measure the Southerners can't vote for, but one with which they can live."

He said that it would curtail the powers of the proposed civil rights commission so that it could issue subpoenas only in cases involving voting rights.

Further encouragement for the Southern forces came from the disclosure by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) that he is drafting an amendment which, like Russell's, would erase Section 3 of the bill.

Miami Trace Suit

for radio and newspaper advertisements and other publicity and made threats and intimidations in furtherance of the passage of the bond issue.

The sixth defense is that Mrs. Thompson, clerk of the board, did not personally calculate the weighted averages of the proposed improvements under the bond issue as required by the Uniform Bond Act.

The seventh defense alleges that the Miami Trace board has never actually adopted a resolution for the issuance of bonds, although the petition filed in the suit alleges that such a resolution was passed on April 6, 1957. It is further alleged that a portion of the proceeds of the bond issue will be used to construct a sports stadium and that this cannot be done legally under Ohio law.

The ninth defense is that the board has not made any provision for the payment of interest on the bond issue for the first year after the bonds are sold.

The tenth defense alleges that by the time the bonds are estimated to be sold, which was alleged in the petition to be on or about Nov. 15, 1957, sufficient territory will have been transferred from the Miami Trace school district to the Washington C. H. school district to reduce the value of the Miami Trace tax duplicate below that required by law to support a bond issue of $1,652,500.

The eleventh defense states that the resolutions, notice of election and ballot used in the November, 1956, election on the bond issue relate to more than one purpose within the meaning of the Uniform Bond Act and are misleading and deprived the electors of their right to vote on the various purposes separately.

The final claim is that all of the actions of the Miami Trace board were done in bad faith and are an abuse of discretion on its part sufficient to invalidate the entire bond proceedings.

The answer filed on behalf of Mrs. Thompson, alleges that the bond proceedings have been regular in form with the exception that the notice of election and ballot contain more than one purpose within the meaning of the Uniform Bond Act, and that this error in the proceedings invalidates the entire bond issue.

The Supreme Court has not yet indicated how much time will be granted to the attorneys for the Miami Trace board to file replies or other pleadings to these two answers.

It is understood that the attorneys for the Miami Trace board had requested a additional time for reply, due to the American Bar Association meeting in London, England, in August, which they plan to attend.

REGINALD "Chink" Davis, county dog warden, reported to the commissioners Monday morning that within a week he will start his house to house canvass through the county to pick up dogs for which no license has been obtained or lost.

Davis said that all dogs found without licenses will be brought to the county pound where the animals will be held for three days. At that time either new homes will be found for the dogs or they will be destroyed. During the three day period, however, they may be reclaimed by owners by paying for a license and for cost of upkeep in their impounding.

Ike 'Copters On CD Mission

Experts Assessing
Mock H-Bomb Attack

NEWSPOINT, Operation Alert (AP)—President Eisenhower flew by helicopter to a secret "command post" today to help top officials test the nation's ability to recover from a mythical H-bomb attack.

The President was briefed on "emergency" actions being simulated by officials at the command post. He then got back to his helicopter and flew to Washington, where he landed on the White House lawn. He was at the command post only briefly.

Eisenhower's small blue and white "whirlybird" put down in a clearing in a hilltop area after a flight from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa. He took off there from a pasture just west of his country home.

The command post to which he flew is within 200 miles of Washington, D. C., but its exact location is a secret.

As he alighted, Eisenhower smiled broadly and was greeted by Gordon Gray, chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Lewis W. Berry, acting director of the Federal Civil Defense Administration. Gray and Berry are running this fourth annual nationwide civil defense drill.

Eisenhower became the first President ever to ride a helicopter Friday when he led a simulated mass exodus from America's screams. In theory 166 H-bombs were dropped on 155 targets in the United States and its territories. Eisenhower was "evacuated" directly from the White House.

TODAY the clock was jumped hypothetically to 15 days after the attack. Purpose of this phase of the drill, to last until Friday, is to determine how a government-in-hiding could restore order.

Only one H-bomb strike was supposed to have occurred. Presumably the United States hit back with such massive retaliation that the "enemy" itself was reeling and unable to follow up.

Eisenhower came here to assess mock recovery efforts. With him were his Army, Navy and Air Force aides and his national security aide, Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor.

CD Unit Here Aids in Alert

Makes All-night Ride To 'Bombed' Cincy

Civil Defense men from Washington C. H., "helped save Cincinnati," Friday night in the aftermath of Friday's nation-wide mock civil defense alert.

The Washington C. H. team was "alerted" at 6 p. m. Friday and dispatched on "rescue duty" at 6:30 p. m. Arriving at Owensville at 8:15 p. m., the men were ordered at 9:15 p. m. to go into "bombed-out" Cincinnati.

They drove through downtown Cincinnati and went back to the Hamilton County Highway Department, where they were "released."

Some 68 units took part in the exercises. Coffee and donuts were served by the Salvation Army at the Hamilton County headquarters. The men did not stop in downtown Cincinnati. They arrived back here in time to go to bed at 5 a. m.

Mrs. Walls' Motion Is Heard by Judge

Judge Darrell Hottle of Highland County Monday morning started hearing a motion filed by Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls last week asking that John R. Trace, former principal of Washington C. H. High School, be placed under arrest and brought back to Washington C. H.

Trace had not completed making a deposition of his testimony for possible use in the trial of Mrs. Walls, under indictment for embezzling $9,874 from the high school activities fund during part of the time Trace was principal, when he disappeared.

He had resigned as principal of the high school to become director of education of the island of Guam in the Pacific and the presumption is that he has gone there. He had delayed his start for Guam from June 15 to July 1. He had not been seen since June 30, the day after he collapsed in a restaurant and was taken to Memorial Hospital.

He had completed two days of deposition when Mrs. Walls filed suit against him for $100,000 for defamation of character. He collapsed when told of the suit, and disappeared the following day after his release from the hospital.

In another court action, Mrs. Walls asked seizure of Trace's property, 713 Dayton Ave., in connection with her damage suit.

Civil Rights Foes

(Continued from Page One) nounced he would offer a substitute for the House-passed bill that would strike out Section 3 and provide for jury trials when issues of fact were involved in contempt cases growing out of the enforcement of voting rights.

Mundt said his substitute was designed as "a measure the Southerners can't vote for, but one with which they can live."

He said that it would curtail the powers of the proposed civil rights commission so that it could issue subpoenas only in cases involving voting rights.

Further encouragement for the Southern forces came from the disclosure by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) that he is drafting an amendment which, like Russell's, would erase Section 3 of the bill.

Princess Yasmin Is Big Hit at 7

GENEVA (AP)—Princess Yasmin, daughter of Prince Aly Khan and Rita Hayworth, played her first starring role today. She was a smashing success.

At the request of Ismaili Moslem leaders, the pert and pretty 7-year old girl was formally presented to the feminine followers of her half-brother, Prince Karim, the new Aga Khan IV.

The ceremony took place on the restaurant terrace of a Geneva hotel.

"A real trouper," said persons watching the ceremony. "She takes after her mother."

Miami Trace Suit

(Continued from Page One) for radio and newspaper advertisements and other publicity and made threats and intimidations in furtherance of the passage of the bond issue.

The sixth defense is that Mrs. Thompson, clerk of the board, did not personally calculate the weighted averages of the proposed improvements under the bond issue as required by the Uniform Bond Act.

The seventh defense alleges that the Miami Trace board has never actually adopted a resolution for the issuance of bonds, although the petition filed in the suit alleges that such a resolution was passed on April 6, 1957. It is further alleged that a portion of the proceeds of the bond issue will be used to construct a sports stadium and that this cannot be done legally under Ohio law.

The ninth defense is that the board has not made any provision for the payment of interest on the bond issue for the first year after the bonds are sold.

The tenth defense alleges that by the time the bonds are estimated to be sold, which was alleged in the petition to be on or about Nov. 15, 1957, sufficient territory will have been transferred from the Miami Trace school district to the Washington C. H. school district to reduce the value of the Miami Trace tax duplicate below that required by law to support a bond issue of $1,652,500.

The eleventh defense states that the resolutions, notice of election and ballot used in the November, 1956, election on the bond issue relate to more than one purpose within the meaning of the Uniform Bond Act and are misleading and deprived the electors of their right to vote on the various purposes separately.

The final claim is that all of the actions of the Miami Trace board were done in bad faith and are an abuse of discretion on its part sufficient to invalidate the entire bond proceedings.

The answer filed on behalf of Mrs. Thompson, alleges that the bond proceedings have been regular in form with the exception that the notice of election and ballot contain more than one purpose within the meaning of the Uniform Bond Act, and that this error in the proceedings invalidates the entire bond issue.

The Supreme Court has not yet indicated how much time will be granted to the attorneys for the Miami Trace board to file replies or other pleadings to these two answers.

It is understood that the attorneys for the Miami Trace board had requested a 10-day time for reply, due to the American Bar Association meeting in London, England, in August, which they plan to attend.

REGINALD "Chink" Davis, county dog warden, reported to the commissioners Monday morning that within a week he will start his house to house canvass through the county to pick up dogs for which no license has been obtained or lost.

Davis said that all dogs found without licenses will be brought to the county pound where the animals will be held for three days. At that time either new homes will be found for the dogs or they will be destroyed. During the three day period, however, they may be reclaimed by owners by paying for a license and for cost of upkeep in their impounding.

Ike 'Copters On CD Mission

Experts Assessing Mock H-Bomb Attack

NEWSPOINT, Operation Alert (AP)—President Eisenhower flew by helicopter to a secret "command post" today to help top officials test the nation's ability to recover from a mythical H-bomb attack.

The President was briefed on "emergency" actions being simulated by officials at the command post. He then got back to his helicopter and flew to Washington, where he landed on the White House lawn. He was at the command post only briefly.

Eisenhower's small blue and white "whirlybird" put down in a clearing in a millip area after a flight from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa. He took off there from a pasture just west of his country home.

The command post to which he flew is within 200 miles of Washington, D. C., but its exact location is a secret.

As he alighted, Eisenhower smiled broadly and was greeted by Gordon Gray, chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization, and Lewis W. Berry, acting director of the Federal Civil Defense Administration. Gray and Berry are running this fourth annual nationwide civil defense drill.

Eisenhower became the first President ever to ride a helicopter Friday when he led a simulated mass exodus from America's cities as mock air raid sirens screamed. In theory 166 H-bombs were dropped on 155 targets in the United States and its territories. Eisenhower was "evacuated" directly from the White House.

TODAY THE clock was jumped hypothetically to 15 days after the attack. Purpose of this phase of the drill, to last until Friday, is to determine how a government-in-hiding could restore order.

Only one H-bomb strike was supposed to have occurred. Presumably the United States hit back with such massive retaliation that the "enemy" itself was reeling and unable to follow up.

Eisenhower came here to assess mock recovery efforts. With him were his Army, Navy and Air Force aides and his national security aide, Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor.

U. S. Elks Urged To Hike Emphasis On Youth Program

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fred L. Bohn of Zanesville, Ohio, grand exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, says today's teen agers, "fine young boys and girls," are "much more capable than my generation was at that age."

It has been the actions of individuals and not of the group as a whole that has brought the teen-agers criticism he said.

Bohn addressed the opening session of the 93rd Grand Lodge convention here Sunday.

He urged that the Elks spend most of the $7 million in youth welfare charities each year on developing a "new accent to better understanding of teen age problems." The youth programs, he said, are returning "great" dividends and "must be expanded."

By B. E. KELLEY

Right now with wheat harvest here nearing the end, and rapid headway being made with modern equipment, I naturally look back to the earlier days when harvesting grain certainly was much more of a chore than it is today. I realize that modern equipment has taken most of the backache and heartache out of the task.

Our forefathers in this community had to handle the wheat the hard way. First harvesting of the small patches of wheat was done with a hand-made sickle with a wooden handle.

Then some one decided that if "fingers" were added to a scythe, to catch the wheat when it was cut, it would be a big improvement and much faster than the hand sickle.

The "cradle," as the new reaping device was called, was used for many years until the "dropper" came along. This "dropper" cut the wheat like a mowing machine and it was swept from a platform and left in a pile.

In these three methods of harvesting wheat, the sheaves were tied by hand. Some two dozen stalks of wheat were picked up, the heads fastened together with a deft twist, the sheaves bound and the butts of the stalks were twisted together and tucked under the band. This method of binding wheat really worked.

Then the flail, a piece of wood some three feet or more long, with thong attached to long wooden handle, was used to literally pound the grains from the heads.

To separate the wheat from the chaff, the grain and chaff were picked up, tossed into the air, and a breeze carried the chaff away and the wheat fell to the ground, or floor, where it was gathered up and stored.

Later horse power separators were used, then steam operated separators, followed by separators operated by farm tractors with gasoline motors.

The reaper, using wire to bind the sheaves, was a big improvement in harvesting before the self binder, using stout cord, came on the scene.

The first combines were pulled by tractors, cutting and threshing the wheat, and running it into sizeable bins, or wagons, as they moved across the fields.

Later the complete unit of combine and tractor were produced, and are much in evidence now. Until comparatively recent years it was customary to shock the wheat, let it cure thoroughly, then stack it in big ricks.

Invariably two ricks were built side by side with sufficient room for the separator to be placed between them. Then the sheaves were tossed upon the separator table where the bands were cut by hand, and a man fed the sheaves into the separator.

Later knives were added to the cylinders which cut the bands as they were fed into the separator by conveyors, eliminating need of two band cutters and a feeder.

Now the several processes formerly used have been merged into one, so that harvesting wheat is a much easier and faster process than in former years.

GOOD WHEAT YIELD

Harry Hiser, retired mail carrier, of Milledgeville is justly proud of his wheat yield this year.

He has a field of 15 acres that averaged 39 bushels to the acre. This yield is probably among the top yields of the county this year.

Before the use of fertilizer, at least in quantities sufficient to bring results, averages of 18 to 20 bushels of wheat to the acre were regarded as good.

Now it is not uncommon for yields to reach well into the thirties and even the forties per acre.

DIFFICULT DINING

How wonderful it is to eat a meal under proper circumstances, with possible soft music as an added inducement, or no music at all. It's a relaxing atmosphere!

I thought of this recently when I saw a pigeon walking along Court St., picking up bits of food, hurrying aside or even taking wing as automobiles and trucks whizzed over his "dining table".

However, the pigeon kept after the bits of food, probably crushed grains of wheat, regardless of being driven away by passing vehicles frequently.

The pigeon's difficulty in dining reminded me of many of the juke box numbers blaring out in eating places, which also make dining in peace a difficult matter for at least part of the public.

Should Old Concepts Undergo Re-Examination

The demand for change has brought about impulsive minor and some major campaigns in our country, some probably good and many probably bad. All of them need more careful analysis however before they are put into practice than many of them get.

Numerous ideas and notions accepted and taken for granted in the past, or at least assumed to be clearly comprehensible, are declared by many individuals and groups as badly needing re-examination in this age. They say they should be defined anew and made to correspond to the character of today's world and its problems.

Such things, however, run up against that old adage - "rash enthusiasts of change, beware. Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to cast the old aside."

This is all mentioned by way of citing as an example, what does the much used phrase "national interest" mean today in concrete terms? Just what are "the vital interests" of the various nations which so often seem to undergo intensity of unrest and an upsurge of distraught nerves?

There have been periods of confusion about various concepts of their "interests" in nearly all communities, in states, down at Washington D. C., in press and radio and even in the United Nations.

Some of these deal with local problems and some with greater areas up to national questions.

Decisions are urged in matters of foreign aid, our national informational program which our government implements abroad, the last national budget, and such question as civil rights. They all relate to matters of national interest.

Going into the international field, France and Great Britain attacked Egypt basically because the leaders in both countries were convinced that Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal was a threat to the "vital interests" of both countries. In America, there has been much official concern lest the Arabs turn more anti-American in the pursuit of "legitimate Arab interests." Here again the question of "vital interests" is central.

Probably we should re-examine these concepts in the light of facts of the present world. Unless we do so, and unless we are clear as to what we mean, we are all too likely to make mistakes. Here is a big field for fresh and clear-cut thinking and a new observation of the facts.

Old Fords Tell Tender Tales

By Hal Boyle

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Hunting out and restoring antique autos has become the hobby of thousands of Americans who seek to revive the windblown joys of the days when motoring was young.

Charles and Kenneth Coulter, brothers who operate a florist business here, have traveled more than 10,000 miles in the last few years to build up one of the largest collections of old model Fords in the South.

Each old car has some tale to tell, sometimes funny, some times one of heartbreak, sometimes just downright eerie.

For example, there was one car the brothers didn't get to buy for an unusual reason.

Learning that a lady in a small town had a 1922 Ford, Charles went to see her about it. She willingly let him out to her barn and showed him the cobweb-covered vehicle, but balked at selling.

"But rats are already nesting in the upholstery," pointed out Coulter. "Son they'll destroy it completely."

"Oh, that's all right," replied the aging lady, confidently. "Daddy will fix it when he comes back. He'd never forgive me if I sold his car while he was away."

Charlie silently closed the barn door and left the car and faithful daughter.

"I happened to know," he recalled, "that her father had been dead 15 years."

Charlie, whose arm was shattered by a Japanese dum-dum bullet after 119 days of combat in the Pacific, became interested in vintage vehicles after his return from World War II. He and Kenneth, his younger brother, now have more than 20. They include seven T-model Fords and three A-models, a 104-year-old, horsedrawn, glass-paneled funeral coach, and a 1948 Lincoln which they bought because President Eisenhower rode in it during his first campaign.

Their goal is to obtain an open air version of each T-model flivver turned out by Henry Ford between 1908 and 1927.

"During that period he built 15,007,033 cars," said Charlie. "A survey a few years ago showed only about 6,000 were left. Now there are even fewer."

The brothers at first were able to buy the old cars as junk. Now they pay from $100 to $500 up, depending on its condition, and may spend $2,000 more restoring it. One of their best bargains was a fully restored 1909 model

T which the Ford factory sold when new for $850. They paid $950 for it.

Behind the rusting bulk of a car in the Coulter yard waiting to be restored lies a pathetic story.

A farmer who never learned to drive himself bought the car in 1927 to surprise his young daughter. A few months later she fell ill and died.

The father refused to sell the car, saying, "I couldn't stand to see a stranger drive that car past this road."

He put the car in a shed. Snow collapsed its roof, and over the years the rain did its work. When Charlie learned about the car and told the farmer he wanted to restore it, the old man would take only $20 for it.

"When I started to haul it away, he broke into tears," said Charlie. "I offered to let him have it back, but he shook his head and said, 'no, take it. But when you get it fixed, won't you drive it back here and take me for just one ride in it—like my daughter did?'"

Charlie usually likes to take his time restoring his old cars. This is one he wants to get back on the road as soon as possible—to make an old man happy.

Government Balances and Taxes

By George Sokolsky

When it comes to spending other people's money, everybody is generous. Congress is usually particularly generous because the citizens want so much, seldom realizing that it is their own money that is being spent. They, the citizens, all complain about high taxes but they would like their special little items added to the budget, failing to recognize that huge totals grow from the accumulation of little items.

So we come again this year, as we have been forced to every year at about this time, to ask questions about unexpended surpluses. This is an amount of money previously appropriated but which was not used, and which many departments have learned how to manipulate so that the amounts remain on hand. Nevertheless, the citizen is taxed as though the departments were operating at a deficit. Every unexpended balance should be accounted for and should go back into the treasury and the citizen should be freed from the need for providing that amount of money.

It is estimated that at the present time more than $6,000,000,000 of unexpended surpluses is available. If this amount were deducted from the Eisenhower budget, that ungainly document could be brought down to about $66,000,000,000 which is high enough. The economy bloc in the Congress says that it can save between $1 and $2 billion without at all jeopardizing moral obligation and defense necessities. So let's say $1,000,000,000. That would bring the budget down to $65,000,000,000.

The Hoover Commission has shown savings of between $4 and $6 billion. These savings can be effective, they claim, by introducing administrative improvements and efficiencies. Well, let us say $4,000,000,000. So that would bring the budget down to $61,000,000,000.

Even that is high and contains a lot of extravagances, such as I heard about the other day, when a man wrote me that when it comes to mechanical soap dispensers in rest rooms, the government buys the fanciest and most expensive kind, although most grades are the same, their function being to pour soap powder into somebody's hands who wants to wash them. Why he needs to wash them out of a fancy dispenser, I do not know, except that whoever buys the stuff wants to give the citizen the best, as long as the citizen pays for it.

Money is a very precious commodity to possess. It buys food, pays the rent and provides baby with shots. It also pays for automobiles and television machines but not for the stuff that appears on television because that comes for free, being on the whole generally not worth much more. However, recently I have seen some fairly ancient movies on television, which are very good and which I would pay to see, but not for the commercials which are an abomination.

So to get back to the subject of money, it is preferable to be able to keep whatever money one earns and I, personally, regard the current high taxes as larceny and will never vote for any Representative or Senator who does not favor cutting the budget as a matter of general principles and act thereupon. Personally I do not care whether the cuts are scientific or ad lib, so long as taxes are reduced and some additional money at the end of each year remains in my pocket for me to spend or to save, depending upon my personal inclination. It is about time for the exorbitant taxes which the American people pay, to be reduced.

I am willing to wager that most citizens feel the same way, except those who receive checks from the government for no good reason and who calculate at the end of the year that they are getting a free ride at the expense of the rest of us. Also the lawyers and accountants who make a living fixing up other people's tax returns would have to go back to a slower pace of life if it were ever possible for the citizen to write out his own income tax statement without fear of going to jail for charging an item too many to an expense account or for overpaying which looks fishy and starts a long train of investigations that are costly in time, effort, and expenditures of money.

Ergo, cut the budget and solve these problems which ought not to interfere with the citizens.

What Is A Placebo?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THERE is an old saying which states that "All that glitters is not gold." So, too, all that is given a patient by a doctor is not necessarily medicine.

I am referring to placebos, of course, the value of which, in certain cases, cannot be disputed. However, ethics of administering placebos in clinical medicine have been argued for more years than I can remember, and I am no Johnny-come-lately in this field.

No Medical Value

Simply defined, placebos are injections, tablets or liquids given a patient despite the fact they have no medical value. A "pure" placebo—a saline solution is an example—has no pharmacologic action whatever. An adulterated placebo does contain some medication, but not enough to affect the disease of the person to whom it is given.

This does not mean placebos have no value at all. On the contrary, they do. They are invaluable in checking the effects of new drugs by serving as inert preparations for control groups.

Frequently Helpful

However, believe it or not, they frequently are very helpful in treating disease. In fact, most patients will react at least occasionally when placebos are given instead of actual medication. There have been patients who have been given only placebos and have reported relief from pain or some other improvement in their illness. Many patients also report side reactions such as itching, diarrhea and even extreme weakness when given just a "blank" preparation.

Neither sex nor intelligence appears to have anything to do with a patient's reaction.

Reported Improvement

One study of 1,082 patients disclosed that about one-third of them were decidedly improved after placebo therapy. Conditions helped by administration of these non-drug drugs included headaches, tension, wound pain and even the common cold.

One place where placebos appear to be used to some extent is in aiding persons with incurable diseases. Giving them something—even though the doctor knows nothing can cure their disease—helps allay their fears.

The fact that a patient is being aided by placebo therapy does not mean the doctor should stop seeking some medication that might be of more physical help.

Should Old Concepts Undergo Re-Examination

The demand for change has brought about impulsive minor and some major campaigns in our country, some probably good and many probably bad. All of them need more careful analysis however before they are put into practise than many of them get.

Numerous ideas and notions accepted and taken for granted in the past, or at least assumed to be clearly comprehensible, are declared by many individuals and groups as badly needing re-examination in this age. They say they should be defined anew and made to correspond to the character of today's world and its problems.

Such things, however, run up against that old adage - "rash enthusiast of change, beware. Be not the first by whom the new is tried, nor yet the last to cast the old aside."

This is all mentioned by way of citing as an example, what does the much used phrase "national interest" mean today in concrete terms? Just what are "the vital interests" of the various nations which so often seem to undergo intensity of unrest and an upsurge of distraught nerves?

There have been periods of confusion about various concepts of their "interests" in nearly all communities, in states, down at Washington D. C., in press and radio and even in the United Nations.

Some of these deal with local problems and some with greater areas up to national questions.

Decisions are urged in matters of foreign aid, our national informational program which our government implements abroad, the last national budget, and such question as civil rights. They all relate to matters of national interest.

Going into the international field, France and Great Britain attacked Egypt basically because the leaders in both countries were convinced that Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal was a threat to the "vital interests" of both countries. In America, there has been much official concern lest the Arabs turn more anti-American in the pursuit of "legitimate Arab interests." Here again the question of "vital interests" is central.

Probably we should re-examine these concepts in the light of facts of the present world. Unless we do so, and unless we are clear as to what we mean, we are all too likely to make mistakes. Here is a big field for fresh and clear-cut thinking and a new observation of the facts.

Old Fords Tell Tender Tales

By Hal Boyle

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Hunting out and restoring antique autos has become the hobby of thousands of Americans who seek to revive the windblown joys of the days when motoring was young.

Charles and Kenneth Coulter, brothers who operate a florist business here, have traveled more than 10,000 miles in the last few years to build up one of the largest collections of old model Fords in the South.

Each old car has some tale to tell, sometimes funny, some times one of heartbreak, sometimes just downright eerie.

For example, there was one car the brothers didn't get to buy for an unusual reason.

Learning that a lady in a small town had a 1922 Ford, Charles went to see her about it. She willingly led him out to her barn and showed him the cobweb-covered vehicle, but balked at selling.

"But rats are already nesting in the upholstery," pointed out Coulter. "Son they'll destroy it completely."

"Oh, that's all right," replied the aging lady, confidently. "Daddy will fix it when he comes back. He'd never forgive me if I sold his car while he was away."

Charley silently closed the barn door and left the car and faithful daughter.

"I happened to know," he recalled, "that her father had been dead 15 years."

Charlie, whose arm was shattered by a Japanese dum-dum bullet after 119 days of combat in the Pacific, became interested in vintage vehicles after his return from World War II. He and Kenneth, his younger brother, now have more than 20. They include seven T-model Fords and three A-models, a 104-year-old, horsedrawn, glass-paneled funeral coach, and a 1948 Lincoln which they bought because President Eisenhower rode in it during his first campaign.

Their goal is to obtain an open air version of each T-model flivver turned out by Henry Ford between 1908 and 1927.

"During that period he built 15,007,033 cars," said Charlie. "A survey a few years ago showed only about 6,000 were left. Now there are even fewer."

The brothers at first were able to buy the old cars as junk. Now they pay from $100 to $500 up, depending on its condition, and may spend $2,000 more restoring it. One of their best bargains was a fully restored 1909 model

T which the Ford factory sold when new for $850. They paid $950 for it.

Behind the rusting hulk of a car in the Coulter yard waiting to be restored lies a pathetic story.

A farmer who never learned to drive himself bought the car in 1927 to surprise his young daughter. A few months later she fell ill and died.

The father refused to sell the car, saying, "I couldn't stand to see a stranger drive that car past this road."

He put the car in a shed. Snow collapsed its roof, and over the years the rain did its work. When Charlie learned about the car and told the farmer he wanted to restore it, the old man would take only $20 for it.

"When I started to haul it away, he broke into tears," said Charlie. "I offered to let him have it back, but he shook his head and said, 'no, take it. But when you get it fixed, won't you drive it back here and take me for just one ride in it—like my daughter did?'"

Charlie usually likes to take his time restoring his old cars. This is one he wants to get back on the road as soon as possible—to make an old man happy.

Government Balances and Taxes

By George Sokolsky

When it comes to spending other people's money, everybody is generous. Congress is usually particularly generous because the citizens want so much, seldom realizing that it is their own money that is being spent. They, the citizens, all complain about high taxes but they would like their special little items added to the budget, failing to recognize that huge totals grow from the accumulation of little items.

So we come again this year, as we have been forced to every year at about this time, to ask questions about unexpended surpluses. This is an amount of money previously appropriated but which was not used, and which many departments have learned how to manipulate so that the amounts remain on hand. Nevertheless, the citizen is taxed as though the departments were operating at a deficit. Every unexpended balance should be accounted for and should go back into the treasury and the citizen should be freed from the need for providing that amount of money.

It is estimated that at the present time more than $6,000,000,000 of unexpended surpluses is available. If this amount were deducted from the Eisenhower budget, that ungainly document could be brought down to about $66,000,000,000 which is high enough. The economy bloc in the Congress says that it can save between $1 and $2 billion without at all jeopardizing moral obligation and defense necessities. So let's say $1,000,000,000. That would bring the budget down to $65,000,000,000.

The Hoover Commission has shown savings of between $4 and $6 billion. These savings can be effective, they claim, by introducing administrative improvements and efficiencies. Well, let us say $4,000,000,000. So that would bring the budget down to $61,000,000,000.

Businessmen
Change Use of Word Phrases

'Boom and Bust' Now
Referred To as Type
Of 'Readjustment'

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen don't change the words they use quite as fast as teen-agers. But change them they do. And an old timer is lost today if he isn't hip.

Remember when "business cycle" meant boom and bust? Those words make the squeamish squirm today. Now we say "adjustment" if it's our business, and maybe "rolling readjustment" if it's the other fellow's.

Once we talked only of "supply and demand" as setting the price of goods and the price of labor. Now the economists, especially the political ones, talk about "administered prices" set by management regardless of supply and demand, and of "administered wages" as contracted for without regard for the productivity of the labor or for the demand for the products to be made.

Or the disciple of semantics speaks of "managed economy," where domestic or international politics call for high output and high prices for commodities for which the demand may be meager and falling.

Once upon a time people got cold feet and stock prices skidded. But the market analyst today often calls this a "technical correction," or even "preparing the base for a new rise."

People now living can remember when Americans weren't disturbed by hearing their way of life called "capitalism". But right after the war all the better orators in business dropped that phrase and took up "free enterprise" instead. Of late the more fashionable term in the executive suites is "people's capitalism."

Maybe your father chewed his pencil figuring out his "profit and loss" statement. Your son talks about a "cost-price squeeze on the profit margin" and "product cost accounting."

A "net loss" used to be a real tragedy which you tried to hide from your wife as long as you could, or until the neighbors told her. Now it may help on next year's taxes (or last year's) or even make you look so glamorous someone will buy your business.

All very wonderful in this age of "profitless prosperity."

New Steel
Price Boost
Given Study

CLEVELAND (AP) — Recent price and wage increases in the steel industry will be met with mixed reaction by steel consumers, "Steel" Magazine said today.

It said that some consumers will pass the increased costs along in the form of an average price hike of about seven per cent, others will absorb part of the increases because of competitive conditions and many will await action by competitors.

The metalworking weekly said the steel industry last week continued to revise prices upward in line with the pattern set by the U.S. Steel Corp. Several southern producers of pig iron upped prices $3.50 a gross ton, but they did not raise prices last March when northern producers hiked theirs $2 a ton, the publication said.

Steel mill operations last week recovered only slightly from the Fourth of July holiday the previous week and are expected to continue sluggish for several weeks, "Steel" said.

"Mass vacations in the metalworking and steel producing plants, as well as a slackening in over-all demand will contribute to the lethargy," the magazine explained.

Last week's steel output climbed two points to 80.5 per cent of rated capacity, or 2,060,400 net tons in the corresponding week of last year production dropped to 12.5 per cent, or 307,735 tons, because of a strike by the United Steelworkers.

August Miller, 22, and William McCorkle, 23, arrested after they allegedly disarmed two policemen investigating a robbery Friday, broke down under questioning and identified the gang.

Ohio's Model Poll System
No Accident, Chief Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Take it from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown: Ohio's model election system is no accident.

Revision of voting laws to the extent that they are copied by other states came about largely through the "grass roots" efforts of local election officials, Brown asserts.

They are the members of county election boards, their clerks and other employees and officials who help keep Ohio's free elections clean and efficient.

When Brown became the state's chief elections official in 1951, he encouraged suggestions for much-needed revision of complex election statutes. He set up a traveling office to meet election officials throughout the state and fostered an annual conference to exchange ideas.

This summer's conference will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Cleveland. About 350 plan to attend. The gathering is in addition to the annual winter conventions of the Ohio Assn. of Election Officials.

Major conference business includes preparation for the election in November of county judges who will start serving next year.

The last Legislature created the judgeships to replace justice of the peace courts. County judges will serve outside municipal court areas. Some municipal courts serve an entire county.

Brown explained that the problem is complicated because some counties use voting machines, others do not. Some counties also require voters to register, others don't.

"This meeting, our traveling office programs and bi-monthly bulletins," Brown said, "are responsible for Ohio's recognized leadership in better election laws and procedures."

During his first term, Brown helped hammer suggestions into laws for better elections. Three legislative sessions back, the lawmakers extensively revised Ohio's election code. Successive Legislatures made other refinements.

The last Legislature during Brown's fourth term made changes to:

Set 9 p. m. (EST) for the close of final-day voter registrations starting next year.

Allow voters expecting to be medical or surgical patients in a hospital on election day to cast absentee ballots for the first time.

Prevent unsuccessful primary nominees from becoming write-in candidates at the following general election.

Require the names of candidates to appear on petitions before they are circulated.

Allow single "X" voting for a state of candidates to national party conventions pledged to a single choice.

Permit disabled (not indigent) voters to accept help in marking ballots.

Abolish a requirement that boards provide one voting machine for each 100 electors.

Elimination of the requirement, Brown said, leaves it up to boards to provide sufficient machines and booths for paper ballot marking. He said boards are attempting to revise precincts to accommodate about 250 voters each.

It takes about 130,000 booth workers, tabulators and other employees to help boards conduct elections, Brown estimated.

The four-member boards in all 88 counties are each composed of two Democrats and two Republicans. Clerks must be of a political faith different than the board chairman.

Board members are paid on the basis of county population. Salaries range from $66 to $5,000 annually. Boards set their clerk's pay which ranges up to $12,000 a year.

Businessmen Change Use of Word Phrases

'Boom and Bust' Now
Referred To as Type
Of 'Readjustment'

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen don't change the words they use quite as fast as teen-agers. But change them they do. And an old timer is lost today if he isn't hep.

Remember when "business cycle" meant boom and bust? Those words make the squeamish squirm today. Now we say "adjustment" if it's our business, and maybe "rolling readjustment" if it's the other fellow's.

Once we talked only of "supply and demand" as setting the price of goods and the price of labor. Now the economists, especially the political ones, talk about "administered prices" set by management regardless of supply and demand, and of "administered wages" as contracted for without regard for the productivity of the labor or for the demand for the products to be made.

Or the disciple of semantics speaks of "managed economy," where domestic or international politics call for high output and high prices for commodities for which the demand may be meager and falling.

Once upon a time people got cold feet and stock prices skidded. But the market analyst today often calls this a "technical correction," or even "preparing the base for a new rise."

People now living can remember when Americans weren't disturbed by hearing their way of life called "capitalism." But right after the war all the better orators in business dropped that phrase and took up "free enterprise" instead. Of late the more fashionable term in the executive suites is "people's capitalism."

Maybe your father chewed his pencil figuring out his "profit and loss" statement. Your son talks about a "cost-price squeeze on the profit margin" and "product cost accounting."

A "net loss" used to be a real tragedy which you tried to hide from your wife as long as you could, or until the neighbors told her. Now it may help on next year's taxes (or last year's) or even make you look so glamorous someone will buy your business.

All very wonderful in this age of "profitless prosperity."

New Steel Price Boost Given Study

CLEVELAND (AP) — Recent price and wage increases in the steel industry will be met with mixed reaction by steel consumers, "Steel" Magazine said today.

It said that some consumers will pass the increased costs along in the form of an average price hike of about seven per cent, others will absorb part of the increases because of competitive conditions and many will await action by competitors.

The metalworking weekly said the steel industry last week continued to revise prices upward in line with the pattern set by the U.S. Steel Corp. Several southern producers of pig iron upped prices $3.50 a gross ton, but they did not raise prices last March when northern producers hiked theirs $2 a ton, the publication said.

Steel mill operations last week recovered only slightly from the Fourth of July holiday the previous week and are expected to continue sluggish for several weeks, "Steel" said.

"Mass vacations in the metalworking and steel producing plants, as well as a slackening in over-all demand will contribute to the lethargy," the magazine explained.

Last week's steel output climbed two points to 80.5 per cent of rated capacity, or 2,060,400 net tons. In the corresponding week of last year production dropped to 12.5 per cent, or 307,735 tons, because of a strike by the United Steelworkers.

Piqua A-Plant Deal Is Studied by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — An atomic energy plant to supply municipal power at Piqua, Ohio, is one of six projects proposed for construction under a $370 million authorization bill now before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. A vote on the measure is expected possibly by the end of the week.

15 Men, Girl, Held In Cleveland Robberies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sixteen persons rounded up by police Sunday night, including a 15-year-old girl, have admitted 24 robberies since May 26, police said. Detectives said the gang worked in teams, usually three to a robbery. Augustus Miller, 22, and William McCorkle, 23, arrested after they allegedly disarmed two policemen investigating a robbery Friday, broke down under questioning and identified the gang.

Ohio's Model Poll System No Accident, Chief Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Take it from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown: Ohio's model election system is no accident.

Revision of voting laws to the extent that they are copied by other states came about largely through the "grass roots" efforts of local election officials, Brown asserts.

They are the members of county election boards, their clerks and other employees and officials who help keep Ohio's free elections clean and efficient.

When Brown became the state's chief elections official in 1951, he encouraged suggestions for much-needed revision of complex election statutes. He set up a traveling office to meet election officials throughout the state and fostered an annual conference to exchange ideas.

This summer's conference will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Cleveland. About 350 plan to attend. The gathering is in addition to the annual winter conventions of the Ohio Assn. of Election Officials.

Major conference business includes preparation for the election in November of county judges who will start serving next year.

The last Legislature created the judgeships to replace justice of the peace courts. County judges will serve outside municipal court areas. Some municipal courts serve an entire county.

Brown explained that the problem is complicated because some counties use voting machines, others do not. Some counties also require voters to register, others don't.

"This meeting, our traveling office programs and bi-monthly bulletins," Brown said, "are responsible for Ohio's recognized leadership in better election laws and procedures."

During his first term, Brown helped hammer suggestions into laws for better elections. Three legislative sessions back, the lawmakers extensively revised Ohio's election code. Successive Legislatures made other refinements.

The last Legislature during Brown's fourth term made changes to:

Set 9 p. m. (EST) for the close of final-day voter registrations starting next year.

Allow voters expecting to be medical or surgical patients in a hospital on election day to cast absentee ballots for the first time.

Prevent unsuccessful primary nominees from becoming write-in candidates at the following general election.

Require the names of candidates to appear on petitions before they are circulated.

Allow single "X" voting for a state of candidates to national party conventions pledged to a single choice.

Permit disabled (not indigent) voters to accept help in marking ballots.

Abolish a requirement that boards provide one voting machine for each 100 electors.

Elimination of the requirement, Brown said, leaves it up to boards to provide sufficient machines and

Pope Urging Return to Christianity

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII lashed out at materialism of both East and West Saturday and called for return to Christianity.

"This materialism," he said, "is not found only in the condemned philosophy (Communism) that rules the politics and economy of one part of humanity. It also pervades the love of money whose ruins are broadening."

"It is experienced in the cult of the body; in excessive search for comforts; in avoidance of all austerity of life that prompts disrespect for human life even to the point of destroying it before it has seen the light."

"It is manifested in an unbridled search for pleasure that shamelessly exhibits itself, and tries also to seduce with literature and spectacles the souls of those who are still pure."

"It is demonstrated in a disregard for one's brother; in egoism that oppresses him (one's brother), and in injustice that deprives him of his rights—in a word in that concept that regulates only functions of material prosperity and earthly satisfactions."

Pope Urging Return to Christianity

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII lashed out at materialism of both East and West Saturday and called for return to Christianity.

"This materialism," he said, "is not found only in the condemned philosophy (Communism) that rules the politics and economy of one part of humanity. It also pervades the love of money whose ruins are broadening."

"It is experienced in the cult of the body; in excessive search for comforts; in avoidance of all austerity of life that prompts disrespect for human life even to the point of destroying it before it has seen the light.

"It is manifested in an unbridled search for pleasure that shamelessly exhibits itself, and tries also to seduce with literature and spectacles the souls of those who are still pure."

"It is demonstrated in a disregard for one's brother; in egoism that oppresses him (one's brother), and in injustice that deprives him of his rights—in a word in that concept that regulates only functions of material prosperity and earthly satisfactions."

Pesky Philly '9' Now Only Half-Tilt Off Pace in NL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Phillies are trying for the National League jackpot by playing "double or nothing" with the rest of the league. By winning four double-headers in the last 10 days, the 50-1 shots of opening day now are only half a game off the pace.

Snapping a losing streak July 1, the Phils have won 11 of their last 13.

Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn handled the pitching Sunday as the usually light-hitting Phils hit five home runs and beat St. Louis twice 6-2 and 11-4. Von McDaniel, the 18-year-old $50,000 bonus baby, suffered his first major league defeat in the opener and Larry Jackson, the Cards' top winner, lost the second.

Brooklyn dropped Milwaukee to third place, one game behind St. Louis, when Gil Hodges hit a two-run homer in the ninth for a 3-2 victory after successive doubles by Frank Torre and Andy Pafko had given the Braves a tie-breaking run in the top of the ninth.

Cincinnati snapped its seven-game losing streak, slugging Pittsburgh twice 9-6 and 12-4. New York outlasted Chicago 8-6 in 12 innings, winning on Willie Mays' two-run homer after Whitey Lockman's second home run of the day had tied the game in the ninth.

Just when the American League appeared on the verge of becoming a race once more, the New York Yankees turned on a six-run rally to get an even break in Chicago.

The Yanks bounced back from a 4-0 deficit to a 6-4 second-game victory on a grand slam homer by pinch hitter Bill Skowron. Billy Pierce's fine five-hit pitching had won the first for Chicago 3-1.

Despite two home runs by Ted Williams, who displaced the Yanks' Mickey Mantle as the American League leader with 25, the Boston Red Sox lost two to Cleveland. Joe Altobelli's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded won the first for Bob Lemon 3-2 and the Indians clobbered Boston pitching for 20 hits to take the second 17-4 for Stan Pitala.

Detroit prepared for the Yanks' visit by knocking off Baltimore twice 10-2 and 7-6 in 10 innings. Billy Hoeltz hit two homers and pitched a seven-hitter in the first game and the second was won by Red Wilson's single after a damaging error by Jim Bredeweser, Baltimore shortstop.

Kansas City split a double with Washington in 100-degree heat. Julio Becquer's timely hitting helped Washington take the opener 4-1 for Camilo Pascual but the A's cut loose with a 17-hit barrage, including two homers by Irv Noren, in an 11-3 second-game romp.

The Phillies showed little respect for McDaniel, raking him for five runs and five hits before he left for a pinch hitter after four innings. Rip Repulski turned on his old Card mates with a three-run homer in the first inning. Ed Bouchee also homered for the Phils.

Back-to-back home runs by Joe Lonnett and Chico Fernandez and Bouchee's second of the day were key blows in the second game.

Brooklyn and Milwaukee played it close to the vest at 1-1 from the first inning until the ninth, when Pafko drove in a run with a double after Gino Cimoli walked to open the ninth. Hodges hit Bob Buhl's first pitch into the left field stands. Red Schoendienst accounted for Milwaukee's first run with a homer.

Cincinnati came from behind with six runs on eight singles in the seventh inning of the opener, winning for Hersh Freeman in relief. Ted Kluszewski hit two homers and Smokey Burgess had one among the 19 hits in the second game, in which Joe Nuxhall went all the way.

The Giants-Cubs struggle included six homers with two for Lockman and one each for Bobby Thomson and Mays of the Giants and Dale Long and Bob Speake for the Cubs.

The Yanks erupted at Comiskey Park after being shut out with five hits by Dick Donovan for eight innings. Three singles brought one run. With one out, Skowron ripped into a pitch by relief man Jim Wilson for a grand slam. Tommy Byrne, Yankee winner, followed with another homer. Pierce retired the last 16 Yanks in order, winning his 13th in the opener.

Williams had a perfect 4-for-4 day at Cleveland with three hits in the first and a pinch homer in the second.

First Victory Won by R&S Team Sunday

The Ross & Satterfield outfit, the Washington C. H. entry in the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League, won its first baseball game of the season Sunday with a 15-hit, 12-run splurge as it swamped unbeaten Blanchester, 12 to 6.

The victory got the R&S crew out of the SWO cellar, but it still is a long way from the top which is held by the undefeated Columbus All Stars.

Junior Satterfield, on the hill for the R&S team fanned nine and walked only five while holding the Blanchester boys to eight hits. He had only one bad inning, the sixth, when 5 runs were scored. That gave the home team a 6-5 lead.

But, the Washington C. H. outfit took care of that with a 7-run outburst in the eighth to put the game on ice.

A doubleheader had been scheduled, but because of the heat, the second game was postponed by mutual agreement.

Tom Smalley, R&S headman said the bright part of the game was the fielding of his team.

Realtors Win In Play-off

The red-hot Realtors won their fifth straight Little League game at Wilson Field Saturday evening as they edged the Cubs 9-8 with an artful squeeze play in the last inning.

The game was a sudden-death play-off of a tie contest on July 10.

With the game tied at 8—all going into the top of the sixth, Gary Mickle, Realtor hurler, mowed the Cubs down without a run. The Realtors came up with the winning run in the bottom of the sixth when Gerald Mosley led off with a long double off the center field fence. Mosley took third on a wild pitch and then scored when Stevie Rettig executed a perfect squeeze play with a bunt down the third base line.

Mac Dews, Jr., manager of the defeated Cubs, said after the game, "It couldn't have been a better bunt—it was just perfect. Eddie Mitchell (Realtor pitcher) certainly caught us flatfooted."

The playoff came as the front end of a doubleheader, Saturday evening.

Athletics Lose To Chillicothe

WCH Team Dropped To Fourth Place

Chillicothe came up with two runs in the seventh inning to nip the Athletics 4-2 and drop them to Fourth place in a Heart of Ohio League game played here Sunday afternoon.

Three hits and a wild pitch were sufficient for the Chillicothe tallies in the fatal seventh.

Kenny Robinette was on the mound for the losers, striking out six and walking one while getting nicked for 11 hits.

Although 11 hits were garnered by the Chillicothe team and six errors were committed by the Athletics, coach Bob Hildreth explained the loss as mostly a lack of hitting. The Athletics at the time are being plagued by a father severe batting slump and intend to take extra time in the batting cage this week.

Charley Dawes got the Athletics' only extra base hit, a double and no Athletic batter was able to garner more than one hit.

While Chillicothe's Placier was handcuffing Athletics to five hits, his mates were solving the left-handed slants of Robinette for 11 safeties, with the only extra base blow being a double by Placier himself. Placier whiffed five and walked only one.

Legion Juniors Out of Tourney

The Washington C. H. Legion Junior team was eliminated from the seventh district Legion tournament at Portsmouth Sunday afternoon as they were drubbed by the home team, 16-4.

The Portsmouth squad settled the issue in the first inning when they scored six times. Roger Shackelford, left handed Washington C. H. hurler, was guilty of wildness and did not get very good support in his field.

Having bowed out of tournament play, the Washington C. H. nine will continue League play at Marysville Thursday night.

Bill Ison, Portsmouth flinger, gained his second straight victory over the WCH nine. The win gave Portsmouth the district championship and a berth in the state tournament.

Despite two home runs by Ted Williams, who displaced the Yanks' Mickey Mantle as the American League leader with 25, the Boston Red Sox lost two to Cleveland. Joe Altobelli's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded won the first for Bob Lemon 3-2 and the Indians clobbered Boston pitching for 20 hits to take the second 17-4 for Stan Pitula.

Detroit prepared for the Yanks' visit by knocking off Baltimore twice 10-2 and 7-6 in 10 innings. Billy Hoeltz hit two homers and pitched a seven-hitter in the first game and the second was won by Red Wilson's single after a damaging error by Jim Bredeweser, Baltimore shortstop.

Kansas City split a double with Washington in 100-degree heat. Julio Becquer's timely hitting helped Washington take the opener 4-1 for Camilo Pascual but the A's cut loose with a 17-hit barrage, including two homers by Irv Noren, in an 11-3 second-game romp.

The Phillies showed little respect for McDaniel, raking him for five runs and five hits before he left for a pinch hitter after four innings. Rip Repulski turned on his old Card mates with a three-run homer in the first inning. Ed Bouchee also homered for the Phils.

Back-to-back home runs by Joe Lonnett and Chico Fernandez and Bouchee's second of the day were key blows in the second game.

Brooklyn and Milwaukee played it close to the vest at 1-1 from the first inning until the ninth, when Pafko drove in a run with a double after Gino Cimoli walked to open the ninth, Hodges hit Bob Buhl's first pitch into the left field stands. Red Schoendienst accounted for Milwaukee's first run with a homer.

Cincinnati came from behind with six runs on eight singles in the seventh inning of the opener, winning for Hersh Freeman in relief. Ted Kluszewski hit two homers and Smokey Burgess had one among the 19 hits in the second game, in which Joe Nuxhall went all the way.

The Giants-Cubs struggle included six homers with two for Lockman and one each for Bobby Thomson and Mays of the Giants and Dale Long and Bob Speake for the Cubs.

The Yanks erupted at Comiskey Park after being shut out with five hits by Dick Donovan for eight innings. Three singles brought one run. With one out, Skowron ripped into a pitch by relief man Jim Wilson for a grand slam. Tommy Byrne, Yankee winner, followed with another homer. Pierce retired the last 16 Yanks in order, winning his 13th in the opener.

Williams had a perfect 4-for-4 day at Cleveland with three hits in the first and a pinch homer in the second.

Brooklyn dropped Milwaukee to third place, one game behind St. Louis, when Gil Hodges hit a two-run homer in the ninth for a 3-2 victory after successive doubles by Frank Torre and Andy Pafko had given the Braves a tie-breaking run in the top of the ninth.

Cincinnati snapped its seven-game losing streak, slugging Pittsburgh twice 9-6 and 12-4. New York outlasted Chicago 8-6 in 12 innings, winning on Willie Mays' two-run homer after Whitey Lockman's second home run of the day had tied the game in the ninth.

Just when the American League appeared on the verge of becoming a race once more, the New York Yankees turned on a six-run rally to get an even break in Chicago.

First Victory Won by R&S Team Sunday

The Ross & Satterfield outfit, the Washington C. H. entry in the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League, won its first baseball game of the season Sunday with a 15-hit, 12-run splurge as it swamped unbeaten Blanchester, 12 to 6.

The victory got the R&S crew out of the SWO cellar, but it still is a long way from the top which is held by the undefeated Columbus All Stars.

Junior Satterfield, on the hill for the R&S team fanned nine and walked only five while holding the Blanchester boys to eight hits. He had only one bad inning, the sixth, when five runs were scored. That gave the home team a 6-5 lead.

But, the Washington C. H. outfit took care of that with a 7-run outburst in the eighth to put the game on ice.

A doubleheader had been scheduled, but because of the heat, the second game was postponed by mutual agreement.

Tom Smalley, R&S headman said the bright part of the game was the fielding of his team.

The Yanks bounced back from a 4-0 deficit to a 6-4 second-game victory on a grand slam homer by pinch hitter Bill Skowron. Billy Pierce's fine five-hit pitching had won the first for Chicago 3-1.

Despite two home runs by Ted Williams, who displaced the Yanks' Mickey Mantle as the American League leader with 25, the Boston Red Sox lost two to Cleveland. Joe Altobelli's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded won the first for Bob Lemon 3-2 and the Indians clobbered Boston pitching for 20 hits to take the second 17-4 for Stan Pitula.

Realtors Win In Play-off

The red-hot Realtors won their fifth straight Little League game at Wilson Field Saturday evening as they edged the Cubs 9-8 with an artful squeeze play in the last inning.

The game was a sudden-death play-off of a tie contest on July 10.

With the game tied at 8 - all going into the top of the sixth, Gary Mickle, Realtor hurler, mowed the Cubs down without a run. The Realtors came up with the winning run in the bottom of the sixth when Gerald Mosley led off with a long double off the center field fence. Mosley took third on a wild pitch and then scored when Stevie Redd pitched a perfect squeeze play with a bunt down the third base line.

Mac Dews, Jr., manager of the defeated Cubs, said after the game, "It couldn't have been a better bunt— It was just perfect. Eddie Mitchell (Realtor pilot) certainly caught us flatfooted."

The play-off came as the front end of a doubleheader, Saturday evening.

Athletics Lose To Chillicothe

WCH Team Dropped To Fourth Place

Chillicothe came up with two runs in the seventh inning to nip the Athletics 4-2 and drop them to Fourth place in a Heart of Ohio League game played here Sunday afternoon.

Three hits and a wild pitch were sufficient for the Chillicothe tallies in the fatal seventh.

Kenny Robinette was on the mound for the losers, striking out six and walking one while getting nixed for 11 hits.

Although 11 hits were garnered by the Chillicothe team and six errors were committed by the Athletics, coach Bob Hildreth explained the loss as mostly a lack of hitting. The Athletics at the time are being plagued by a rather severe batting slump and intend to take extra time in the batting cage this week.

Charley Dawes got the Athletics' only extra base hit, a double and no Athletic batter was able to garner more than one hit.

While Chillicothe's Placier was handcuffing Athletics to five hits, his mates were solving the left-handed slants of Robinette for 11 safeties, with the only extra base blow being a double by Placier himself. Placier whiffed five and walked only one.

Sagar Starts On Circuit as Race Starter

John Sagar left here Monday morning for Martinsville, Ill., where he will serve as the official starter for the five-day harness horse racing meet of the fair there.

Sagar, a licensed presiding judge as well as a race starter, was accompanied by Mrs. Sagar in the 1957 Cadillac convertible equipped with the electrically operated starting gate. Mrs. Sagar will drive while Sagar operates the gate and lines up the fields of horses behind it.

The starting gate is one of two owned by Paul Young of Lima, Young is at Grandview Oval, near Cleveland, with the other gate.

The Martinsville Fair race meeting is the first of nine, and possibly 10, on Sagar's starting schedule. One of them is at the big Ohio State Fair.

Features of the Martinsville Fair races are the Midwestern Trot and Midwestern Pace, each a $15,000 stake event.

AFTER returning from Illinois next Sunday, Sagar will start out on the rest of his circuit that will take him in succession to the Crawford County Fair at Bucyrus; Auglaize County Fair at Wapakoneta; Clarke County Fair at Springfield; Darke County Fair at Greenville; Ohio State Fair, Columbus; Northfield race meeting near Cleveland; Hamilton County Fair at Carthage; stand-by at Delaware County Fair at Delaware for Little Brown Jug stake (he also will serve as associate judge at Delaware); Hardin County Fair at Kenton and probably some of the races at the Lexington Trot in Kentucky.

Sagar, a member of the Fayette County Fair Board and the speed committee, is taking the week of July 23-27 out to help co-ordinate the Fair racing program here.

Legion Juniors Out of Tourney

The Washington C. H. Legion Junior team was eliminated from the seventh district Legion tournament at Portsmouth Sunday afternoon as they were drubbed by the home team, 16-4.

The Portsmouth squad settled the issue in the first inning when they scored six times. Roger Shackelford, left handed Washington C. H. hurler, was guilty of wildness and did not get very good support in the field.

Having bowed out of tournament play, the Washington C. H. nine will continue League play at Marysville Thursday night.

Bill Ison, Portsmouth flinger, gained his second straight victory over the WCH nine. The win gave Portsmouth the district championship and a berth in the state tournament.

Redlegs End Nosedive, Win 2 from Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cincinnati's
Redlegs have pulled abruptly out of a seven-game nosedive, and it brought back some nostalgia.

It showed Hamilton Joe Nuxhall pitching like he used to do as the National League's best southpaw.
And it showed Ted Kluszewski slugging homers with the game-wrecking ease he displayed before his back started hurting.

The Reds' 9-6 and 12-4 victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday also tightened the league chase so that only 2 1/2 games span the first and fifth place teams.

The Redlegs are fifth.
Lefthander Nuxhall went the route for the first time this year, striking out four men in the nightcap, giving up ten hits and didn't walk a batter.

But he had a shaky ninth inning
when the Pirates jumped on him for three runs before he tightened down and ended the game.

The second game was also Klusewski's chance to shine. He belted his second and third homers of the year, and catcher Smoky Burgess also got a four-base blow. They accounted for six runs between them.

The Reds collected 19 hits in the nightcap, leading off with five runs in the first inning, and

Redlegs End Nosedive, Win 2 from Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Cincinnati's Redlegs have pulled abruptly out of a seven-game nosedive, and it brought back some nostalgia.

It showed Hamilton Joe Nuxhall pitching like he used to do as the National League's best southpaw. And it showed Ted Kluszewski slugging homers with the game-wrecking ease he displayed before his back started hurting.

The Reds' 9-6 and 12-4 victories over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday also tightened the league chase so that only 2 1/2 games span the first and fifth place teams.

Lefthander Nuxhall went the route for the first time this year, striking out four men in the night-cap, giving up ten hits and didn't walk a batter.

But he had a shaky ninth inning when the Pirates jumped on him for three runs before he tightened down and ended the game.

The second game was also Klus's chance to shine. He belted his second and third homers of the year, and catcher Smoky Burgess also got a four-bash blow. They accounted for six runs between them.

The Reds collected 19 hits in the nightcap, leading off with five runs in the first inning, and adding the rest in dribbles of one, two and three-run innings.

Pittsburgh's only other marker came in the fifth on three straight singles.

In the opener, Herschell Freeman worked his way through three scoreless innings collecting his fourth victory in seven decisions.

But the Reds had to blast six runs across in the seventh inning, coming from behind to win.

As we motored home from Canada over the New York thruway and onto the Ohio turnpike for a spell and then on down across northeastern Ohio I really felt sorry for the farmers. Thousands of acres of corn was almost completely ruined and tons and tons of hay was rain soaked. Wheat and oats looked fair if weather conditions permit farmers to harvest them.

Of course we have some yellow spots in Fayette County but we also have a lot of good corn and by and large other crops look good.

Are you already for the Fayette County Fair? If not hurry up because it's just around the corner. Lots of new attractions this year including an ostrich race, thrill shows, etc.

Tuesday night will be 4-H night. Come out and see the youngsters perform. You'll enjoy it for two reasons. They are your kids and mine and the grandstand is FREE.

Did you hear the story of the widow with three kids who married a widower with three, about five years later there was a loud commotion in the back yard. The Mrs. yelled to her husband, come on down here, your kids and my kids are beating the dickens out of our kids.

Philadelphian Shot, Crammed Into Trunk

Bullet-Pierced Body
Found at New York
Express Station

NEW YORK (AP)—A bullet-pierced body found squeezed into a tin trunk was identified Sunday night as that of a Philadelphian who came here three weeks ago to look for a job.

The murdered man's fingerprints led police to identify him as James F. Malloy, 53. They said he was fingerprinted when he applied for a job as a painter at the Philadelphia Navy Yard in 1942.

Since then he had rented a room off and on from Oscar Schaeffer of Philadelphia. He came here three weeks ago to hunt for a job and rented another room.

Schaeffer told police Malloy was "quiet, unassuming and a perfect gentleman" and used the room about once a month. He kept a painter's ladder in the room and usually wore work clothes.

A doorman at the New York building where Malloy rented a room said he had seen the man alive Friday night.

EARLIER, police reported that the man was shot three times with a .22-caliber weapon. They said he was "probably" still alive when he was shot.

The crime was discovered Saturday night when a clerk noticed an odor coming from a trunk on a Railway Express agency platform on Manhattan's West Side.

Police pried the trunk open and found the body.

A nationwide alarm was sent out for two unidentified men who delivered the trunk to the agency. Police said the murder operated with remarkable coolness. While the victim lay dying, the killer sealed the three bullet holes, the nose and the mouth with adhesive tape and bandages to block bleeding.

He lined the trunk with newspapers and plastic sheeting before cramming the body inside. Odor-erasing mothballs were also tossed in the trunk. The body was clad only in silk shorts.

A medical examiner said Malloy had soft hands and apparently had done "no laborious work" recently. He had expensive dental capping of the kind favored by entertainers.

The trunk was marked for shipment to "Hal Jefferson, Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles, Calif." But police said there was no such person at the hotel and no reservation for anyone by that name.

Police said the two men who delivered the trunk to the express agency were apparently unaware of the gruesome contents. They made no effort to conceal their faces. And one remarked, after paying the $40.92 shipping charge, that they could "drink up the change" from the $50 bill they offered.

Ohio Turnpike Patron Irked By Service

NORWALK (AP)—It took 10 hours and almost 160 miles of hitchhiking to get a flat tire fixed on the Ohio Turnpike Sunday.

Jack Maxwell of Lima said he hitchhiked the 40 miles between his car and the Vermillion service plaza four times before he got the tire repaired and on his car.

He was on his way to Cleveland with his wife and three-year-old son when a tire blew out. He put on a spare tire which also went flat near the Norwalk-Sandusky interchange.

A turnpike patrolman stopped and radioed for a service truck. Maxwell said, but almost three hours later none had arrived. He got a ride with a truck driver to the Vermillion service plaza. Maxwell said he asked a service truck employee to return with him and repair the tire but was told his car was outside the service truck's territory.

The exasperated motorist then hitched rides back to the car to get the tire back to the service plaza where it was repaired, and back to the car again. He finally arrived back at the service plaza where he picked up his family.

The turnpike commission, Maxwell promised, would hear about the incident.

Car Stolen Here Found in Dayton

Montgomery County sheriff's officers Saturday night recovered a 1956 green and cream Chevrolet stolen from behind the Elks lodge, 222 N. Main St., Thursday night. The transmission had broken down.

Owned by the Fayette Limestone Co., Route 62 south, the auto had been in the possession of Leo Fisher, 503 S. Fayette St., before it was stolen.

The car was found on Route 35 just south of Dayton around midnight Saturday — 48 hours after it was reported missing. A small camera which Fisher had left in the car was missing.

Washington C. H. Police Chief D. Vaiden long theorized it had been stolen by youngsters and that they had not taken the emergency brake off during the whole period.

It was towed back to Washington C. H. Monday.

More than 75 encampment members from all parts of Ohio—including 16 local members—attended the session. Brief talks were given by encampment officials from all over the state. Man Cleared Of Suspicion Of Killing Here

A 30-year-old Chicago man held in Bedford, Pa., has been "cleared of suspicion" in the murder of 86-year-old Sarah C. DeWitt here two weeks ago. Sheriff Orland Hays said Monday.

The man's prints do not match those found in the DeWitt household, the sheriff said.

Arrested July 3 when he was found hitchhiking on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, the man was considered a potential suspect when a Columbus couple traveling in the area informed Bedford police of the killing.

Booked on a hitchhiking charge, the man told authorities he had come from Chicago to Pennsylvania without passing through Ohio. "Maybe he did," was one bystander's view Monday.

Sheriff Hays said Monday there have been no other new developments in the hunt for the killer.

Radioactive Waste Can Floats at Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—A Coast Guard search by planes and surface craft started at dawn today for a steel container of low-level waste radioactive sodium which failed to sink after being dumped into the ocean about 185 miles southeast of New York.

The area was declared "a menace to navigation." The Coast Guard cutter Agassiz stood by in the area to a warning to any ship that might enter the area.

About 25 containers of the waste were tossed overboard from the tanker Otco Bayway Sunday. All but one of the containers sank, and the floating one was lost in the dark, the Coast Guard said.

Gun and Relic Show Here Big

Displays Overflow Merchant Building

Saturday and Sunday brought the largest number of exhibitors and visitors ever attending a Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Assn. meeting here.

Large numbers of guns changed hands, as well as gun supplies, accessories, Indian relic and various other articles exhibited at the show.

Seventeen new members were enrolled during the day, some from adjoining states. The gathering was probably the largest meeting of Gun and Indian relic collectors in Ohio this year.

Approximately 150 exhibitors were present. After all booth and table space was taken, nearly a score of collectors held their own shows at their cars nearby or on the ground.

The VFW Auxiliary furnished food and refreshments throughout the two days. Proceeds will be used for charitable purposes.

Three guns were reported stolen during the day: a .32 caliber Smith and Wesson, valued at $30, a .30 caliber Browning automatic, valued at $30 and a 12-gauge shotgun.

A boy was reported seen with the stolen revolver and anyone knowing of a boy with such a gun is asked to communicate with Sheriff Orland Hays.

The thefts may result in an order barring all minors from the building during the shows.

The next meeting will be at the Merchants Building Sept. 7 and 8.

Casey Jones' Fireman Dies From Cancer

MEMPHIS (AP)—Cancer has killed the man who was fireman when Casey Jones, the greatest railroad hero in American folklore, made his fabled final run in the "Cannonball Express."

Simeon T. (Sim) Webb, 83, of Jackson, Tenn., died in a hospital Saturday night, 57 years after the Cannonball burst through a stalled freight train on the Illinois Central line near Vaughn, Miss.

Obeying Casey's shouted order "Jump for your life," Webb leaped from the cab of the steam engine. Casey, with brakes locked and whistle screaming, rode with the locomotive and was killed.

The wreck of that "big eight-wheeler of mighty fame" grew to legendary proportions in the next few years. A song about Casey sold millions of copies.

Webb enjoyed his sideswipe with fame, telling his story thousands of times. But he quit railroading in 1919 after another narrow escape when an engine he was firing overturned.

The elderly Negro was stricken with cancer some months ago. He moved from Jackson to Memphis, staying with a daughter until he became critically ill July 3 and was admitted to the hospital.

It is actually a transistor radio receiver about the size of a cigarette pack. The carrier can be signalled from a central switchboard that he is wanted. Then he goes to a telephone and dials a pre-arranged number.

A special operator will handle the calls. She dials a number which transmits a radio signal, within an eight-mile range, to the requested receiver. The signal activates a whistle.

The drilling derrick will be lowered by means of the cable used in drilling operations. It will all be taken down at one time, placed in a cradle, and then hauled by special trucks to the new location.

Work of filling in the sump pits with a bulldozer was under way Monday and, within a short time, little will be left about the place, except the drillings and drillers mud which were dumped into the sump holes, and these may be hauled away.

The drilling crews had scattered, presumably to homes or for a few days vacation, while arrangements were being completed for moving the rig to a new location "within four or five miles of Washington C. H."

Business Notes

Frank Lentz, 540 Comfort Lane, an employee of the National Biscuit Co. for the past 17 years, today holds three shares of company stock.

Lentz was awarded the stock as a prize in a three month spring sales contest sponsored by the company.

The Nabisco representative in Fayette, Pickaway, Ross, Madison and Franklin Counties, Lentz was one of about 170 salesmen taking part in the contest. Only half that many won stock.

Hal Summers of the Summer Music Store here will be in Chicago Monday and Tuesday for the annual convention of the National Music Assn. convention in the Palmer House.

He went especially to see the new type organ that is to be brought out soon by the Lowrey Organ Co. He expects to be back Wednesday.

Approximately 150 exhibitors were present. After all booth and table space was taken, nearly a score of collectors held their own shows at their cars nearby or on the ground.

The VFW Auxiliary furnished food and refreshments throughout the two days. Proceeds will be used for charitable purposes.

Three guns were reported stolen during the day: a .32 caliber Smith and Wesson, valued at $30, a .30 caliber Browning automatic, valued at $30 and a 12-gauge shotgun.

A boy was reported seen with the stolen revolver and anyone knowing of a boy with such a gun is asked to communicate with Sheriff Orland Hays.

The thefts may result in an order barring all minors from the building during the shows.

The next meeting will be at the Merchants Building Sept. 7 and 8.

Gun and Relic Show Here Big

Displays Overflow
Merchant Building

Saturday and Sunday brought to the Fayette County Fairground the largest number of exhibitors and visitors ever attending a Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Assn. meeting here.

The action is based on promissory notes secured by the mortgage executed by defendant.

Large numbers of guns changed hands, as well as gun supplies, accessories, Indian relic and various other articles exhibited at the show.

Seventeen new members were enrolled during the day, some from adjoining states. The gathering was probably the largest meeting of Gun and Indian relic collectors in Ohio this year.

Approximately 150 exhibitors were present. After all booth and table space was taken, nearly a score of collectors held their own shows at their cars nearby or on the ground.

The VFW Auxiliary furnished food and refreshments throughout the two days. Proceeds will be used for charitable purposes.

Casey Jones' Fireman Dies From Cancer

MEMPHIS (AP)—Cancer has killed the man who was fireman when Casey Jones, the greatest railroad hero in American folklore, made his fabled final run in the "Cannonball Express."

Simeon T. (Sim) Webb, 83, of Jackson, Tenn., died in a hospital Saturday night, 57 years after the Cannonball burst through a stalled freight train on the Illinois Central line near Vaughn, Miss.

Obeying Casey's shouted order "Jump for your life," Webb leaped from the cab of the steam engine. Casey, with brakes locked and whistle screaming, rode with the locomotive and was killed.

The wreck of that "big eight-wheeler of mighty fame" grew to legendary proportions in the next few years. A sort of about Casey sold millions of copies.

Webb enjoyed his sideswipe with fame, telling his story thousands of times. But he quit railroading in 1919 after another narrow escape when an engine he was firing overturned.

The elderly Negro was stricken with cancer some months ago. He moved from Jackson to Memphis, staying with a daughter until he became critically ill July 3 and was admitted to the hospital.
